Welcome to Textum Wonderland, a place like no other...

It's been a long time of boredom, time where days felt like months, and months felt like years. So we all fall asleep and had the strangest dream, just like Alice.

It was just a regular day, Alice was lying on the meadow and at once there was a Rabbit. He was white and was dressed in a tailcoat which was made out of the most beautiful chenille ever seen named Akira. The tailcoat had a robust structure but also the most gentle feel. He held a large pocket watch in his paw and shouted at the top of his voice that he was late. Alice noticed him immediately, and quickly ran after him to catch up with him, shouting for him to wait for her. But the White Rabbit was very fast and soon got lost under the roots of the tree. Alice decided to follow him deeper and deeper to find him but then she began to fall sharply, which frigened her greatly.

luckily, she was dressed in a wide dress, colored like the morning blue sky and with a beautiful shine. So glamorous, just like the material it was made out of, named Glam. The dress instantly turned into a balloon that carried her lightly down. Slowly the light began to fade, and the walls of the well were beautifully decorated. There were paintings, furniture, and beautiful little things. When she finally stopped, she saw a strange winding hallway, and behind a bend she noticed the shadow of the Rabbit. She followed him and reached the small door at the bottom of a room. She tried to open them, but was stopped by a strange voice.

"Stop it, you big and naughty girl!

Don't pull me! If you want to open the door, you have to take a sip from the bottle on the table!"

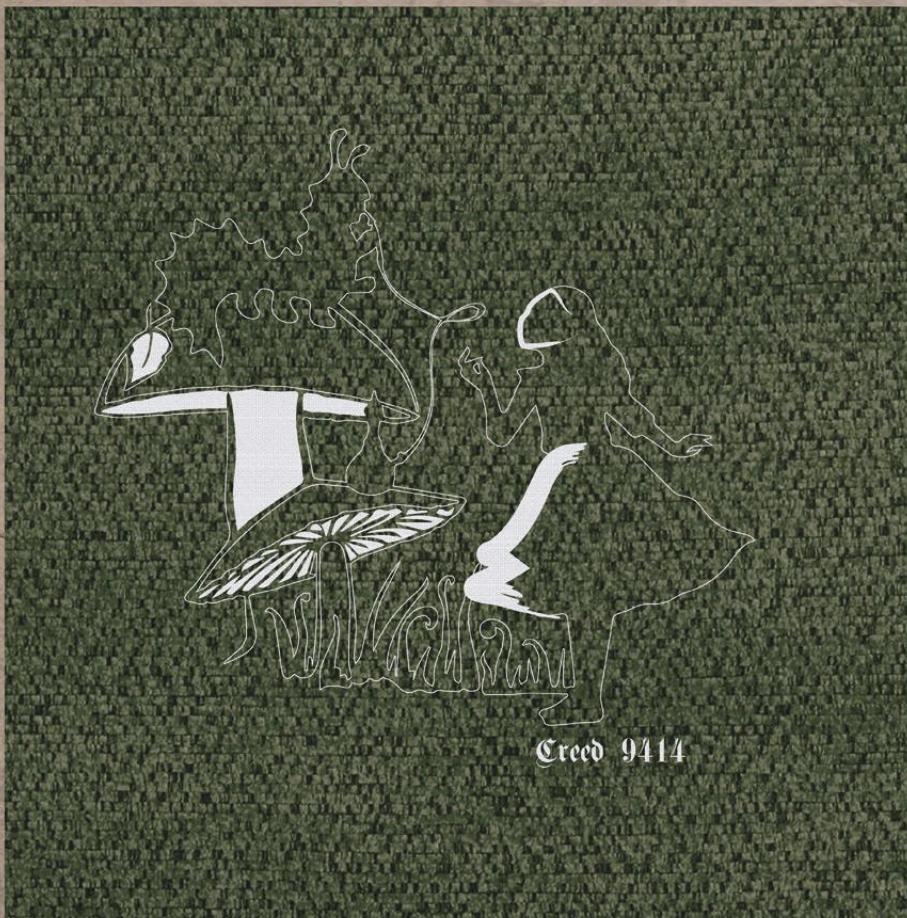

Alice looked at the table and realized that she had just been addressed by the handle! The handle belonged to a door that was upholstered in the most beautiful artificial leather she had ever seen with the Orion material. The bottle said - drink me! Alice decided to take a bigger sip right away, and when she did she realized she was too small now though. The bottle was bigger than her, and she was as small as a doll. When she saw what she had done, the doorknob immediately advised her to eat a cookie to grow. But now Alice has eaten the whole cookie and it has become too big. She couldn't get through the door again. The girl was very sad and cried with great sadness. Her tears flowed in the streams, and soon there was a flood because of them. The doorknob then ordered her to drink from the bottle again in order to reduce what Alice had obeyed. But then she shrank so hard again that she fell into the bottle that the waves of her tears carried through the keyhole.

Creed 9414

When she found herself on the other side of the door, she saw a whole new world, a beautiful dense forest. She couldn't help but wonder that the forest reminded her of an material she saw the day before, named Creed. She went further and further into the forest, all with the hope that she would soon see the White Rabbit. Suddenly she heard a voice calling her by her name. She turned and saw Mrs. Caterpillar sitting on a mushroom, holding a pipe in her hand.

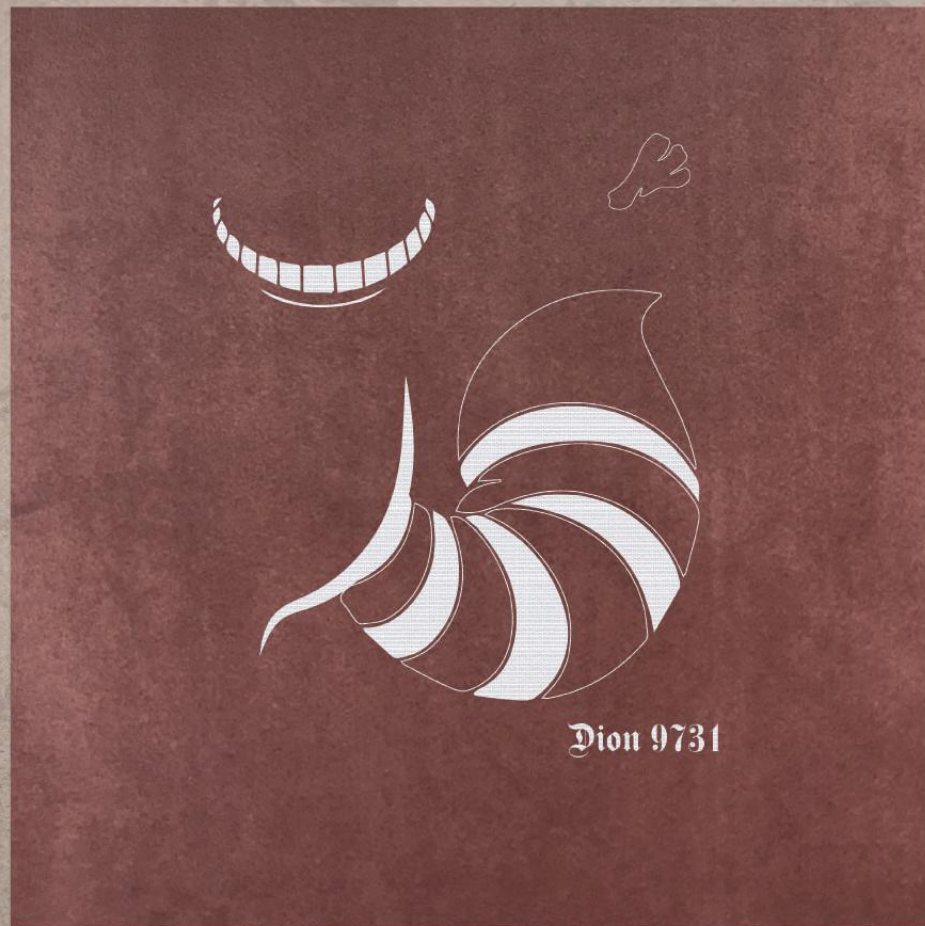

"Alice, you will never be able to reach the White Rabbit because you are too small, you have short legs! If you want to be bigger, eat this mushroom. One half of the mushroom causes growth while the other causes shrinkage."

Alice did not know which half of the mushroom was for shrinkage and which for growth. She decided to break off a piece of each end and bite one without thinking. Luckily, she chose the right one because she was back to her height. She put the remains of the mushrooms in her pocket, and thought it would be easier to catch up with the White Rabbit now.

Unfortunately, she soon realized she was lost. Then she heard someone's voice, and soon realized that it was the voice of a not-so-ordinary cat. Namely, it was a fun cat, pink in color with purple stripes, looking a lot like the new Dion material. The cat introduced itself as the Chesire Cat. Alice was surprised by the cat's appearance, and decided to ask her if she might know where the White Rabbit was and the cat told her that she should look for the March Hare and the Mad Hatter. She soon came across the strangest party she had ever seen. The table was set for a large number of guests, and behind it sat the Mad Hatter and the March Hare. And they celebrated - an unbirthday! Alice was astonished, but then the cheerful duo explained to her that an unbirthday party can be celebrated 364 days a year, while a birthday party is only celebrated one day. The White Rabbit soon appeared at the table and shouted again:

"How late, how late it is! I'm late again! And maybe it's my fault that my watch is late?"

She had had enough of the Wonderland, she was tired and she just wanted to go home. She sat down on the grass and cried. Then the Cheshire Cat reappeared on the branch and told Alice that she could not go home if she had not reached the Queen.

"In Wonderland, every way leads to Her Majesty - the Queen of Hearts."

She walked past a tree and came across playing cards that were occupied by one strange business. Namely, they painted white roses red. One card then explained to her that the Queen of Hearts loved red roses very much, and they got confused and planted white ones. Alice noticed that the surface of the rose petals quite resembled Icon, the new addition to the collection for 2021/22. Then the door of the castle opened, and out came the White Rabbit who announced the Queen's arrival.

The Queen saw Alice and addressed her kindly.

"Oh, a new face! Here you go, can you play cricket?"

Soon Alice was convinced that this was the strangest cricket in existence. In her hand she held a flamingo instead of a bat, and the hedgehog was a ball. She wondered how she was going to play it, but soon concluded that this game was easier than it seemed. At one point, when the Queen of Hearts bent down to strike the hedgehog with the flamingo she was holding in her hand, the Cheshire Cat appeared on the Queen's buttocks. She performed various stunts, mocking the Queen, and Alice begged her not to do so. Then something terrible happened! The Cat tore the Queen's skirt with its claw, and the Queen fell. Alice had never seen such a beautiful skirt before but she could recognize that it was made out of a material called Pace. Everyone fell silent waiting for what the Queen would do now. The Queen was furious and blamed Alice for everything. She decided to execute her immediately.

Antea 9116

Alice remembered at the last minute that she had those mushrooms in her pockets. She ate one and in an instant she grew into a big giant. She was bigger than everyone and she was not afraid of anything anymore. She leaned over the now little Queen of Hearts and said to her:

“You’re an ugly old woman.

And I’m not afraid of you anymore!”

Everyone hid under the bench, and Alice ate another piece of mushroom. Then she shrank and was smaller than all. The queen was encouraged again and ordered the guards to capture her. Since Alice was the smallest of them all, she successfully slipped between the guard’s legs and fled the courtroom. She ran farther and farther and was so scared that she wasn’t looking back. She finally reached the talking doorknob, quickly received it to open the door, passed by and slammed it hard just when it was... Time for afternoon tea! Her sister calmly woke her from her sleep. When Alice woke up, she was sitting in the garden under a tree on a picnic blanket made of of material Antea, with her cat Dina sleeping on her lap.
